Summer 2018
London to Zurich by bike

Passed through Paris, Besancon, Basel, Zurich, then went on to spend a couple of weeks in a field near Vichy, Central France. It was too hot to ride most days, had to power through even with a sunstroke four days in a row. Birthed poo in the woods, admired the variety of bugs and beetles. Met up with friends, made some new ones. Dipped into a river. Got de-ticked at a local pharmacy. Looked at architecture. Chilled at some peaceful beautiful places. Got terrified of wildlife at night. Had a panic attack at a train station at night whilst trying to sleep. Explored the shit out of some French fields.

Fetish for nature satisfied - can finally stay in my room for a year.

Photos were shot on a Sony A6000 with a kit 16mm-50mm lens, Helios-44-2 58mm/f2 and Jupiter 21M 200mm/f4 lenses.
